

New Jersey Clinics

APRIL 2012

Horses show us something new every time we interact with them. They are masters of body language and subtle communication. We have so much to learn from them like patience, respect, letting go, and creative thinking.

Aimee's clinics focus on learning from the horse and taking this knowledge with us to communicate ideas. You will find these exciting topics in her clinics:

- Using your body language more effectively
- Understanding how 'energy' works both on the ground and riding
- Interesting ideas about how horses communicate with each other
- How to find natural collection on the ground and riding
- Advancing your Liberty
- Playing with different combination's or patterns
- Ideas to take home for months of playing
- Accessing the 'mind' connection that horses have with each, we can have this too
- Playing with all lengths of ropes including long lines
- Unlocking body braces
- Relaxation and Stretching
- Higher awareness of our bodies
- Fun riding out on trails
- Taking your freestyle riding to the next level

Clinics are limited to 8 participants to ensure plenty of one on one attention. Private sessions as well as group and classroom time are including in all clinics.
